LONG TIME AGO,

The girl of my minds

Long time ago!

Corled liquid snasy,

By high and low! Hat, alast too soon she perished, Long time ago!

Long time ago! There lingered, broken hearted! Tears!-let them flow,

To her grave they're sadly given! Where flowrets blow! She's the star I missed from heaven! Long time ago!

Rock and tree and flowing water, Long time ago! Bird and bee and blossom taught her,

Love's spell to know! While to my fond vows she listened-Cheeks in a glow-Her bright eyes with transport glisten'd

Long time! She was mine, and mine forever!

Long time ago! Can I now forget her?-never!-No, lost one, no!

Hearts that truly love ne'er alter, In weal or wee! Truth like mine could never falter, Long time ago!

ANECDOTES.

Among other anecdotes which are in circulation, illustrative of the nobleness of mind and kindness of heart of our youthful Sovereign, which we may have every reason to believe, the following strikes us as eminently beautiful. The first act of her Majesty's queenly life was writing that letter to Queen Adelade, which breathed the purest and tenderest feelings of affection and condolence, and evinced a spirit of generosity and consideration which has obtained her Majesty's golden opinions. Her Majesty wrote that letter spontaneously, and having finished it, folded and addressed if to "Her Majesty the Queen." Some one who at handhad the right to make a remark, noticing this, mentioned that the superscription was not correct, for that the letter ought to be addressed to her Majesty, the Queen Downger. "I am quite aware" said Queen Victoria, "of Her Majesty's altered character, but I will not be the first person to remind her of it." -John Bull.

EITHER WAY WILL DO .- "Will you have me Sarah," said a young man to a modest girl. "No, John," said she, "but you may have me, if you will,"

A person, in public company, accusing the Irish nation with being the most unpolished nation in the world, was answered mildly by an Irish gentleman, "that it ought to be otherwise, for the Irish met with hard rubs eno'f and hinds, and the Supreme Courts of to polish any nation upon earth."

A slick horse thief .- We are informed that a company went to the house of a horse thief, in Weakley county, a few nights ago, to arrest him; and, to prevent discovery, the company tied their horses a short distance off, and crept up to the house with the greatest precaution. The thief "smelt a mice" and slipped out at the back door, took the best horse in company, and has not been heard of since. This, we think, surpasses some of Murrel's tricks. -West Tennesseean.

A Sterling Rogue .- Mr. Sterling. of York, Pa., who stated that he had been robbed of $13,000, has been arrested at Reading, Pa, charged with swindling.
